

EE557: Recommended Texts

While the intention of the module is to be completely self-sufficient, students may find it beneficial to study some of the following textbooks to provide an alternative approach. If you are finding a particular topic difficult, then you might find some advantage in consulting with these books. However, please feel free to discuss any issues with me and/or ask questions on the mailing list. If you feel that certain topics in particular need to be explained more thoroughly, then please let me know.

The following are some of the text books that were used in the creation of the module (in a rough order of usefulness):

- J2EE Unleashed, Paul R.Allen, Joseph J.Bambara, Sams 2002 - (Library Copies: 1 week loan: 2, 4 week loan (part-time): 2, 24hour loan: 2, Main Lending 1 week: 2)
- Murach's Java Servlets and JSP: Training & Reference, Joel Murach/Andrea Steelman, Fresno/Murach 2003 - (Library Copies: 1 week loan: 2, 4 week loan (part-time): 1, 24hour loan: 2, Main Lending: 2)
- Java for the Web with Servlets, JSP and EJB, Budi Kurniawan, 2002 (Library Copies: 1 week loan: 2, Main Lending: 2, 24 hour loan: 1, 4 week part-time: 2)
- Java Servlet Programming, Jason Hunter/William Crawford, O'Reilly 1998
- Java Servlet Programming Bible, Rajagopalan, Rajamani et al, Hungry Minds 2002
- The Complete Reference SQL, Groff/Winberg, McGrawHill 1999
- Client/Server Survival Guide, Robert Orfali et al, Wiley 1999
- The Complete Java 2 Certification Study Guide, Roberts et al, Sybex 1999 (for Java)
- Java & XML, Brett McLaughlin, O'Reilly 2001
- XML Development with Java 2, Michael C.Daconta and Al Saganich, Sams 2000
- Enterprise JavaBeans, Monson-Haefel, O'Reilly 2001

Again, please don't rush out and buy these books - some of these are available through the library and if the class finds a need for one or two of these books primarily, I will try to arrange for them to be added to the bookshop and/or library inventories.
